Omya announces price increase for Calcium Carbonate products in Europe

Oftringen (Switzerland), January 31, 2022. Omya announces to increase prices for its Calcium Carbonate products in Europe on March 1, 2022

The unprecedent and extraordinary cost escalation of raw materials, chemicals, energy, packaging, services, transportation costs, as well as general inflation across all countries which we have faced over the second part of 2021 have unfortunately worsened at the beginning of 2022.

The inflationary trend of our main cost drivers remains unexpectedly high and the entire supply chain is still extremely volatile and under very severe constraints with significant pressure on availability and costs.

We are not able to absorb these exceptional cost impacts which are much higher than anticipated and require further immediate price adjustment.

Omya Sales Teams will contact customers with further details regarding pricing, depending upon specific product grades, packaging types and delivery terms.
